

By staying calm and bringing the conversation back to the main point, the killing of the pre-born baby, you can help people re-think their viewpoint.

Many people just repeat rhetoric that they have heard repeatedly, without thinking it through.

Use your conversation as a way to educate the person and, at the very least, teach them that the pro-life position is a reasonable position to hold.

Pro-Abortion Rhetoric	Pro-Life Responses
A woman has a right to choose.	Should anyone have the right to choose to kill a human being for virtually any reason? That is what it means to choose abortion .
I'm personally opposed to abortion, but I wouldn't take away a woman's choice to have one.	Why are you personally opposed to abortion? Would you be personally opposed to slavery but not take away the choice to own a slave?
What if a woman is raped?	Rape is the fault of the father, why should the child pay with his/her life for the father's crimes? Should a woman suffer further damage (physical, psychological and emotional) through an abortion?
Are you personally going to adopt and care for the babies you don't want aborted?	If I agree to adopt them, will you agree that women shouldn't abort them? If a woman decides to kill her four month old, does that mean I need to agree to adopt that child in order to stop her from killing him/her?
What about medical reasons to save the mother's life?	The doctor should do his best to save both, but this is a very rare case. The pre-born child is at most risk of death during abortion. So, do what is medically necessary to save the
Be more tolerant. If you don't like abortion, don't have one.	If you don't like child molestation, don't molest a child.
The fetus is totally dependent on the mother to live.	Isn't a toddler dependent on his/her mother, too? Should we allow the killing of toddlers, too?
Abortion is a private decision between a woman and her doctor.	If a woman privately hires a doctor to kill her newborn or toddler, should we interfere?
